One Chorus

Omicron Delta Kappa will hold its annual interfraternity singing during the first week in December. The exact date has not as yet been set but it is hoped to conduct the affair on December 2 in the Memorial hall. All fraternities on the campus will be invited to participate. Silver singing cups will be awarded to the winner.

Last year four fraternities entered the participation and Alpha Sigma Phi was selected winner of the competition. According to officials of the leadership circle more Greek letter groups are expected to enter this year. Rules governing last year's sing are expected to be adopted for this year's vocal battle. Prof. Carl Lampert and two out-of-town judges decided the winners. This year's selection of judges has not been announced.

Twelve men from each group entering the competition was set as a minimum. Twenty-four men was set as the maximum number allowed. Dormitory groups are to be urged to enter the competition, and if last year's rules are adopted they will draw lots for turns in singing. George Stewart, president of the leadership organization, will have charge.

Formal initiation to the pledges to Omicron Delta Kappa, will be held Thursday night, November 17 at the Phoenix hotel, according to George Stewart, president of the local chapter. A formal banquet will be held at the hotel, immediately after the initiation.

A luncheon also will be held at the Phoenix hotel in honor of the national inspectors, at 12 o'clock noon, Friday, November 18, it was announced.

PARADE TO FEATURE ARMISTICE
DAY CEREMONIES AT UNIVERSITYThird and Fourth Hour Classes Will Be Excused; All Units of R. O. T. C. Will Assemble at 10:10 on Drill Field

Armistice holiday will be observed Friday, November 11, in much the same manner as in previous years, according to a statement issued by C. R. Melcher, dean of men. Students will be excused from third and fourth hour classes, 10 a. m. until 12 noon, Friday.

The short recess period from classes will be featured by a regimental parade in which all units of the R. O. T. C. will participate, according to a report issued by Major B. E. Brewer. All companies will assemble at 10:10 a. m. on the drill field in front of the Administration building. Markers will be placed, indicating places of assembly for each company. Roll will be called and inspections made of each unit in the usual military fashion.

The unit of Pershing Rifles, honorary basic military fraternity will lead the parade. Other organizations which will take part are the American Legion, the Cavalry of Lexington's national guards and the Reserve Officers.

Line of march will begin on the drill field at 10:30 a. m. From there it will proceed to Limestone street, turning east at Euclid avenue, and down Rose street to Main. The march will continue down Main to Broadway, out South Broadway to Maxwell, then to Limestone, and back to the university where all units will be dismissed. Co-ed sponsors are requested to meet at the intersection of Rose and Maxwell streets promptly at 10:45 a. m. There they will join their respective units. Sponsors will be excused from further participation in the parade at Main and South Broadway.

No halts will be made after the parade reaches Main street. All organizations in the parade not assembling on the drill field at the beginning will take position in the rear of the regiment, or as soon as it clears Rose and Main streets. In the event of rain or exceptionally bad weather, the parade will be called off.

According to Dean Melcher, the usual penalty will be inflicted for "holiday cuts." Students cutting any class on Armistice Day, either before the holiday period or after it, will be required to take three additional credit hours of work before being graduated. This rule applies to students matriculating in all colleges on the campus.

Staff, Students
To Be Listed In
New DirectoryNew 200 Page Directory of Student Names To Be Issued Next Week

Every student and staff member of the university will be listed in the 200 page directory that is to be issued early next week, according to an announcement issued from the office of Ezra Gillis, university registrar.

This is the first book of its type published since 1929. Prior to that time the issuance of a directory was an annual affair. According to officials, the book is being published in answer to a demand for an official student guide. All members of the university family, their addresses and their university class or position will be listed in the guide.

The book which is being printed and bound in the Kernel news plant will be given to the students without charge. Although the exact plan of distribution has not been decided upon it is believed that the books will be in the hands of the student body next week.

Although the directory has not been issued at the university for the past four years, it is a regularly issued volume at other schools. It was decided to discontinue the issue in 1929 because of expense involved in the publication.

Student Operates
Amateur Station

Radio station W9KKG, owned and operated by I. W. Lyle, Alpha Sigma Phi, first went on the air Sunday afternoon, October 30. Permission was granted to operate on frequencies of 7,000 and 3,500 kilocycles by the Federal Radio commission and the call W9KKG was assigned. The station is of 100 watt power.

The station is located in the Alpha Sigma Phi house on Transylvania park. It is an official relay station of the American Radio Relay league. It is hoped that the station will become one of the units of the Army amateur network in the near future.

Mr. Lyle is a member of the American Radio Relay league, operates station W9KKG at his home in Louisville, and is well known in amateur radio circles.

W9KKG has already communicated with all the districts of the United States.

Story In French
Heard at Meeting

The French club met Wednesday afternoon, November 2, in Patterson hall. Marjorie Weist presided.

Ann Coleman, chairman of the program committee, led the club in the singing of the Marseilles and introduced Eugene Thompson, who related, in French, a story of his six-month tour of Europe.

The French club meets at 3 p. m. every other Wednesday in Patterson hall. The officers of the club are: Marjorie Weist, president; Ann Coleman, vice-president; Mary Elizabeth Chick, secretary and treasurer. Miss Horsfield is faculty adviser.

Whisker Contest,
Alumni Dance To Greet Old TimersRegistration Will Begin at Alumni Office in Basement of Administration Hall

Kentucky's homecoming game Saturday should be quite a bristly affair. SuKy has asked all male students to enter the beard-growing contest climaxing at the game. The person with the longest beard will be chosen by judges between halves of the game and the winner will be given a cup and a free shave on the field.

The alumni association has arranged a program for the day beginning with registration of all visiting alumni at its offices at 9 a. m. in the basement of the Administration building. Each alumnus registering will be given a souvenir blue and white ribbon to wear during the day.

At 11 a. m. judges of house decorations will visit the various decorated Greek letter houses and their decision will be made as soon as possible. To limit fraternities and sororities competing from using expensive decorations, the committee in charge of the contest has ruled that no organization shall spend more than $20. To insure this limitation of expenditures, each organization is requested to turn in a list of its expenses either to the dean of men or the dean of women before noon Saturday, November 5.

The big event of the day, the game between the Wildcats and the Green Wave, will be called at 2 p. m., on Stoll field. Both the Kentucky and Tulane bands will furnish music and give exhibitions of marching and formations between halves.

Immediately after the game Pres. and Mrs. F. L. McVey will entertain visiting alumni with tea from 4:15 to 6 p. m. at their Maxwell Place home.

A stroller dinner at the Lafayette hotel is scheduled for 6:30 p. m. The night will be climaxed by the annual homecoming dance from 9 to 12 p. m. at the Alumni gym. Music will be furnished by the Masqueraders orchestra.

Kentucky Chi chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, national professional women's journalistic society, initiated Mary Ann O'Brien, Lexington, and Judith Chadwick, of Duluth, Minn., at 7:30 last night at the home of the secretary of the group, Louise Loving. After the initiation, a regular meeting of the organization was held.

Judith Chadwick is a junior in the College of Arts and Sciences, and is majoring in journalism. She attended Duluth Junior College last year where she was one of the editors of the Zenith City Collegian, the official publication of the school. She is a member of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet at the university, a member of the general staff of the Kentuckian, and a member of The Kernel staff.

Mary Ann O'Brien is a senior in the Arts and Sciences College, a member of the Girls' Glee club, and a member of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet.

HOOVER OR ROOSEVELT

—AN EDITORIAL—

TODAY a President will be chosen. Throughout the nation, citizens eligible to vote enter the polls and ballot their convictions for the most important office-holder in this economic stricken country. Thus the citizenry of the United States fulfills its imperative obligation and duty as inhabitants of our republican realm, founded more than one hundred fifty years ago on the doctrine of individual liberty, equality, and right to pursue happiness.

THE CHOICE has narrowed to the candidates of two major parties, Herbert Clark Hoover, incumbent President and Republican nominee, and Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Governor of New York and Democratic standard-bearer. Persons in every part of the nation have had opportunity of hearing, either personally or via a radio network, what relief and aid party candidates propose for our paralyzed country. Speeches of Mr. Hoover and Mr. Roosevelt have provoked serious thought.

BOTH nominees are men, and being men, are human beings. The American public does not have the right to expect a Moses to occupy the President's chair next March, wave a magic wand, and transform a country struggling in the throes of economic disaster into a land overflowing with milk and honey. But the American people do have the right to expect this: a leader who will exhaust his supply of mental and physical energy in synchronism with Congress for the betterment of conditions. Which of these candidates is the more active man, the forceful driver, the diligent, poignant analyst of public need, the more worthy of national trust? This, voters must determine.

THIS IS no time for party stereotyping, no time for demagoguery; no time for personal prejudices; no time for banal reasoning. The hour is arrived for voters to employ innate sagacity in their choice for President. No citizen can expect more discretion from his country than he is willing to place in his selection of men to control national welfare. The future of America today lies in the hands of voters. We owe it to our government, to ourselves, to posterity to ballot convictions based on sagacious thought.

THE KERNEL is not a political organ. However, as the publication of the student body of this university, and standing on a platform of high ideals and better government, it urges every eligible person on the campus to visit the polls today. America stands at the cross-roads; the hand is out for guidance. Vote!

Campaign Plans
Begun by AnnualOwner's Name To Be Placed
On Cover of Kentucky
Year Book

An organization meeting of Kentuckian sales representatives was held Friday afternoon in The Kernel business office and plans were formulated for an intensive early sales campaign which will begin immediately and will continue for approximately three weeks.

In connection with the sales campaign, a beauty contest will be sponsored. According to present plans the contest will be judged by out-of-state judges at the annual Kentuckian dance in December. Each organization will be entitled to one entrant and will be allowed entrant for each eight Kentuckians sold.

As an added inducement to the early purchasing of annuals, the name of the owner will be printed on the cover of his yearbook, if he desires. In order to facilitate the early sale of annuals, only a small down payment will be required this semester. Complete payment will be made during the next semester.

This year's annual will include in its feature section the pictures of the beauty contest winners, snapshots of college students and faculty, and pictures of the military groups.

Call for Freshmen
Netmen Is IssuedFirst Basketball Practice Will
Be Held 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in Alumni Gym

Freshmen who aspire to a position on the 1932-33 edition of the freshmen basketball quintet are to report to the freshmen coach at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in the alumni gymnasium. This practice will be the first of the year and will take on the aspects of an organization meeting. However, all aspirants are to report ready to practice.

Although the call was issued for the freshmen basketballers by Coach Adolph Rupp some one other than the varsity mentor will handle the new men. Because of the great interest in the net sport, practice is starting earlier this year than before. Although exact predictions cannot be made concerning this year's possibilities for a freshmen team. Several excellent prep school players are expected to turn out for the initial practice.

Last year Elmer Gibb, former football and basketball luminary at the university, handled the frosh team and succeeded in bringing the greenies through the season without a set back. This year several of the last year's frosh are expected to be of great help to the Big Blue varsity.

Dr. Forest Black of the College of Law will be the principal speaker at the law school convocation to be held November 10. His subject will be "The Significance of the Apportionment of the Study of Constitutional Law." The meeting will be open to the public, it was announced.

Eight times a Wildcat, crippled but still powerful, threatened the backyard of a Devil and eight times the Devil rose up and smote the invaders, but twice the Devils, aided by the luck that seems to be imparted to all teams coached by Wallace Wade, marched over the Wildcats' goal to win a spectacular game 13-0, Saturday in the Duke stadium.

Only the sweet smile of the gods of fortune saved the Devils from a terrific shellacking at the hands of the Blue Grass team as they out-gained, out-played and out-fought the Wade-coached team in every department except tackling. For only a few moments were they bested there. The Big Blue piled up 12 first downs to six for the winners, gained 269 yards while their opponents were able to gain but 140 yards all afternoon. Kentucky was able to gain at will in midfield, but was helpless when in scoring distance.

Throwing their usual conservative game to the winds, the 'Cats tossed pass after pass and completed 14 of the 21 aerial thrusts they tried, which is a mark for other teams to shoot at. Twice in the opening quarter the 'Cats drove down to the seven yard line, and again went to the three-yard stripe only to be denied the score when the Duke defense tightened and took the ball on downs. Darby was clear on the three-yard line as he took Johnson's pass, but was forced out of bounds by a Duke player.

Duke here staged a drive that carried to the four-yard line, but their pass over the goal was batted down by "Cuzey" Foster. "Bo" Meyers, who replaced Johnson, got off a short punt early in the second quarter and Duke started their drive.

Two plays through the line netted a two-yard setback and then on the last down Laney tossed a pass to Abbott for a first down on the 21 yard line. Three tries at the line were short of a first down on the Blue and White's 15-yard line. Laney slapped a pass right over the line and Rossett took it over the goal line for the first Duke score. Cornelius' try for extra point was low and bounced back onto the field. The half ended with the ball in the possession of the 'Cats in midfield.

The third quarter opened with an exchange of punts which resulted in little gain for either team. Kentucky, taking the ball on the Duke 48-yard line, smashed its way to the five-yard line where on fourth down and with five yards to go, Johnson's pass to Rupert was juggled by Joe a yard from the promised land. Gains in that drive made by lateral passes and runs from punt formation, along with a forward pass from Johnson to Rupert, gave the

AD GROUP WILL

New Men at 5 p. m.,
Thursday; Banquet Will Follow

Alpha Delta Sigma, honorary advertising fraternity, will initiate three men, 5 p. m., Thursday, at the Lafayette hotel. After the initiation ceremonies there will be a banquet in honor of the new members. At this banquet the principal speaker will be Bob Salyers, advertising manager of the Moore Store Company of Illinois. Salyers was a former student of the university and is taking graduate work here now.

The men to be initiated are George Wilson, Alpha Sigma Phi; Dick Long, Delta Chi; and William Howe, Kappa Sigma.

To be eligible for membership in the organization the student must be a junior or senior and have special advertising abilities.

The present roll of the group is Coleman Smith, president; James Salyers, vice-president; Frank Worthington, secretary; Bill Gullard, treasurer; Charles Maxon, and Alfie Mason. Faculty members are Dr. J. B. Miner, R. D. McIntyre, Prof. E. J. Asher, and James Shropshire.

FUNDS ARE NEEDED

Due to a lack of funds, no definite debating program has been established as yet, according to Prof. W. R. Sutherland, instructor of public speaking and coach of debating teams. Last year, debating groups from the university competed with opposing teams representing various Kentucky and out-of-state institutions. It was expected that such competitive debating would be continued this year, but this will be impossible unless financial support is forthcoming.

"AND THE TONGUES SHALL WAG NO LONGER..."

Half-believed lies, whispered knowingly among members of the student body, in the past have been a source both of humiliation and of anguish to members of class committees striving to perform their duties honestly and efficiently.

To be appointed a member of the senior ring committee, the senior ball committee, or of any of the other various committees which undertake the responsibility of spending money belonging to students is, in itself, a laborious, unappreciated assignment. To be charged, maliciously, with wilfully having misappropriated funds entrusted to committee guardianship is a disgrace not to be endured.

Members of the Men's Student council last week recognized both the necessity of safeguarding student funds beyond possibilities of fraud and preventing charges of graft and corruption being lodged against those who conscientiously and sincerely attempt to perform duties incumbent upon them when they are appointed to class committees.

No longer will there be basis for campaigns of hypocritical malice toward students who have been successful in electing members of their groups to student offices. In the future, if any charges of dishonesty can be lodged in regard to letting of student contracts and expenditure of funds, they must be lodged against the council itself.

The council's plan, by which all expenditures of class funds must be approved by the council as well as by class officers, will eliminate the slightest possibility of graft; it will both necessitate and make possible the honest and intelligent discharge of duties vested in various class committees, and it largely will prevent filthy, mud-slinging tactics featuring undergraduate politics in the past.

The Kernel does not know who recently elected class presidents intend to name on various committees under their control; it does know that whoever they may be, whatever their purposes, both they and the entire student body will be protected under the council's ruling.

Charges that the council is merely a political machine, to be used to procure complete campus domination, have been heard, and sometimes rightly heard. In the past, nevertheless, the resolution passed last week by the council certainly is not indicative of student politics. It is a non-partisan, fair, laudable move to protect the rights of all students.

DISINTERESTED CADETS

In a call issued last week, Major B. E. Brewer, commandant of the R. O. T. C. unit, requested 250 cadet volunteers for the formation of an organized Kentucky cheering section during the "Cat-Vol" contest, Saturday, on Stoll field. To date few cadets who have not been placed under "pressure" have indicated their willingness to perform this service for the university.

Present plans, initiated and sponsored by the military department under the auspices of Sukey circle, are the first similar ones proposed in several years. Saturday's formation, however, is to be unique: students in uniform will be assigned definite seats; the resulting arrangement will form in huge and living symbols the letters "UK," with a background provided by contrasting dress of other spectators in the south stands. Novel arrangement of the cheering sections is intended by Major Brewer to stimulate Kentucky cheering and to restore it to the volume and intensity of other years.

Necessity for such a unique presentation of a cheering section as that proposed for the Homecoming game is self-evident in the disinterested manner R. O. T. C. cadets are receiving the suggestion. Regardless of lack of enthusiasm among participating cadets, the formation will be complete by game time; neither the military department nor Sukey has failed, as yet, in procuring student co-operation — no matter how procured.

Nevertheless, it is unfavorably reflective on the much bruited "School Spirit" of Kentucky students that they must be "pressured" into co-operation for the welfare of their university. Proof of an ideal is in its thoroughness of application. R. O. T. C. cadets must not suffer themselves to be forced into the formation of a cheering section. Their only possible and extricable alternative is to volunteer immediately and sincerely their services for Saturday. In this manner only can they redeem their unseemly indifference, prove their "School Spirit."

THE NECESSITY OF SEWER BONDS

Campus voters today are urged to rally in support of Lexington's sewer bonds. Passage of such a proposal would fulfill an imperative need for the university in time of heavy rains. The sewer bond issue is not only a necessity for the southern part of the city, in which area the school is located, but also represents an urgent need to all citizens throughout Lexington.

Advantages of a new sewage system have already been pointed out in the editorial columns of The Kernel. It has been shown that the university is on a direct line with the south drainage area, one of the three potential channels for relief, which passes under the campus behind Alumni gymnasium and McClean stadium in the present creek bed.

During rains of unusual severity, the gymnasium has suffered a heavy loss. In these inundated periods, water seeps above lockers, damaging them and the paraphernalia which they house. Not only is the loss most importunate but also unsanitary waste is carried within campus boundaries. Necessity of aiding districts within the flood belt is obvious.

Vote "yes" for sewer bonds.

AND THE BAND WAS NOT PRESENT

It is to be regretted that the Big Blue band was not at the station when the Wildcats left for Durham to play the Duke Blue Devils. The team, defeated the previous week by Alabama, needed all the encouragement that it was possible to give them. Many students congregated at the station, but the absence of the musicians was conspicuous.

Had the band been present, had they played, the occasion would have taken on a more spirited atmosphere. Stirring songs are always an impetus to good cheer, and it cannot be left unsaid that the 'Cats would have made a better showing against the Devils had they received a proper send-off. Had the boys leaving Lexington felt that the entire student body was backing them, the result of the contest might have been different.

The university band has a reputation throughout the South as one of the best college groups of musicians. It is shameful that, of the seventy odd members of the group, not even a small unit gathered at the station. If the 'Cats had produced a championship team this season the band would have been there. Why cannot proper school spirit be shown when the team is fighting hard for victories, even though not achieving them?

To have a good football team a spirit of co-operation must be displayed by the university. Get behind the team! Show the boys that, even in defeat, each and every student is pulling for them.

Jest Among Us

Everything seems to be under the spell of the jinx around here. Even the band is afraid to appear.

Every one who expects to get a nice smooth shave had better appear at the barber shops before Saturday. After this beard-growing contest there won't be a sharp razor in town.

Famous last words—"If I hadn't took that last one, I'da been alright."

We'd like to know—What happened to the Wildcats? Where do all frat pins go after a certain length of time? Why isn't frat beer any good this year? Why do they call football games "homecoming" when some of us don't get home for days?

Why is it that certain ettes didn't want to go to a certain theater last week for fear of getting "told"?

DOTES AND ANTI-DOTES

By LAWRENCE HERRON

Says my latest contributor: "Unless more embryo columnists come to your aid, you will be forced to change the name of your column to 'Doting Antiquedotes.'" Yes, and unless the quality of contributions improves, again to "Quoting Antiquedotes."

And another correspondent wanted to know whether it was true that independent Alta Mae Cole soon would be sporting a Deltaw pin. I couldn't find out, but I did ascertain that Roy Owsley has ordered a sister pin.

Is Dr. W. R. Allen, head of the zoology department trying to jazz up his courses? Last week the worthy professor, standing in the rear of a class room and focusing a projecting camera, asked his class, "How'm I doin'?" Voice from third row: "Hay! Hay!" Glass in chorus: "Twee, twee, TWEE! Twa, twal!"

Speaking of dances, it ought to be the height of something or other for a couple to become so enraptured in the intricacies of the step whatever that is, as to fall to the floor. It happened at the all-feminine hop staged by the ettes on Halloween at Pat hall.

Fyetaut Duteh Kreuter and Independent Sharp Hatchett were the only eds attending the W. S. G. A. hop. Sympathetic deans let them crash the gate, and the boys got a big rush.

And while I'm on the subject of dances, Alfazies pulled a new one at the Football dance. One brother pinned a lady in a most unorthodox manner. Next day the ette returned the pin to its rightful owner. Claimed she didn't even know the ed who gave it to her! Alfazies blushing swear that they don't either.

By the way, did Little Shot, of the Den, really say that it was bad enough to be a negro when Sigal's threatened to initiate him?

If you don't think that 'Cat-Vol football games draw crowds, consider the following letter received from the manager of Knoxville's largest hotel:

"Referring to yours of recent date, regret to advise that we are already booked to capacity for November 23 and 24th, and cannot promise any more rooms for these dates."

Typewriter clicks: Alfazies have retrieved their long lost charter... lost since 1908, unearthed last week in attic of Pat hall. ADDRESS TO A YOUNG POLITICIAN

If you can talk to crowds and make them want you.
Nor call your adversary "such and such."
If neither does not floating friends can daunt you;
If all men know your life—but not too much;
If you can fill a campaign's every minute
With sixty seconds worth of voters' won;
Yours is the land—it's up to you to skin it,
That is to say, you'll be elected, son.
—MARTIN BERTRAM.

A MEMORY

Once a year ago
You held me in your arms.
And told me things so dear.
I loved you then you know,
Everything was beautiful.
Your hair, your eyes (the old guitar)
All seemed so wonderful.

Now you have gone.
Though your kisses still remain
Branded on my soul,
As some lovely, passionate refrain.

You are my love song,
A melody I can never forget.

Sweet and very long.
Sung to me by the man in the moon,
As the breezes play the tune.
—A. M. S.

LONE NIGHTS

I sat alone last night through all its hours,
And awaited a step that never came;
I saw you, though, within my memory's bowers,
And tried to think that you too felt the same;
I heard your voice again swear you would come,
And felt your hands in absence still eling true;
Your very breath I felt and with it some
Mysterious omen that your calls were through.
And fancy now has given flight to fears—
That friendship giv'n unsought must ever bear
The bitter marks, and walk the silent paths
Where hearts can tread and feel no pain of care.
My friendship, faith, and heart to you are true—
Tonight, and all the nights, I'll wait for you.

—D. A. II.

WRONG NUMBER

I saw a crad of a new ette the other day.
Who came to grace this institution of learning;
So, skilfully, I sauntered cautiously in her way,
For her closer acquaintance eagerly yearning.
Aloof, and pretty as a picture, she stood where
I could softly say, "Hello, Gorgeous," and
All I got in reply was a cold fish stare.
With, "that's my husband standing over there."
—JOVE.

MOST SINCERE

I shall put you in a strong box, dear,
There I shall keep you, always near;
Such love's been dreamed by poet and seer;

To them so dim, to us most clear.
Our love must be happy, with never a tear.
Our lives be welded for year on year.
Some may laugh at these words set here,
And say, "She's one of those folks most queer."
I ask that you only lend an ear,
I know it is true, never fear.
—N. TAYLOR.

EMOTIONS

There's a mystic pool
Where realities fail—
You've been down there
Or felt his call—
The fog hangs thick
As you drift along
Your heart beats fast
You can't be wrong—
A sudden gale
And you're swept away—
The mist draws back
You cannot stay.

QUEEN SEA

See how the sea plays diplomatically
Before the wind that lashes it
Against the beach:
See how the moon throws a path of silver

O'er her face. The sea
More permanently stands forth, and
In her heart
She neither hates nor loves her company.
But dear, so wise and old, we cannot hope to be.
She said to me because she found me near,
"I'm glad," with each succeeding wave
She told me she was glad,
"For neither wind, nor man, nor moon above
Can my body greatly alter,
And my heart they cannot move."
Though we are not so grave and free,
We can adhere to the soul of her majesty.
We'll tend toward peace and gladness find,
Giving and taking nothing that we value;
Living without passions in our mind.

Chesterfields are Milder

Chesterfields Taste Better

You know how it is. If a cigarette is mild—that is, not harsh or bitter, but smokes cool and smooth—then you like it and don't worry about how many or how often you smoke. And if it tastes right—that is, not oversweet, not flat—then you enjoy it all the more.

The right kind of ripe, sweet Domestic and Turkish tobacco... the right ageing and blending... make Chesterfields milder, better-tasting... They Satisfy!

November walks these beautiful days
In a thin pale lavender gown,
Blashed with the sunset of dying leaves
And bordered with silvery down.

Her lips are sad with a mute farewell
As she looks in the eyes of the year,
Like two that love yet meet to part,
Without a word or tear.

She carried an acoor rosary,
And when each head has been kissed,
She draws her draperies round her
And vanishes through the mist.

SECOND BID DAY IS NOVEMBER 10

Bids Must Be Turned In To Dean of Women's Office Before 9 a.m.; Answers Necessary by Day After

A second bid day will be held for all sororities November 10. The bids must be in the office of the dean of women before 9 a. m. on this day. The rushes will then be notified by phone of their bids and will be asked to call at the dean's office for them. The answer to the bids must be given by the following day to Dr. Blanding, who will forward the information to the respective sororities.

Each year this second bid day is held for sororities in order that girls that were previously undecided would have time to get permission and advice. It also gives the sororities the privilege of pledging girls that entered school at a date too late to be pledged on the first pledge day of the year.

Fundamentals Feature Basketball Practices

With the opening of a 21-game schedule just around the corner, Coach Rupp and his Big Blue netters are hard at work polishing up on fundamentals so that they will be at their best when the rigorous schedule gets under way. During the initial two weeks of practice 12 men have reported daily for instruction in floor plays and ball handling. Scrimmage sessions have featured the most recent drills.

Early indications point to the fact that last year's stars have lost none of their cunning. "Aggie" Sale continues to be the wizard of the squad, and should hold his All-American position again this year unless he has a surprising reversal of form. Sale has been working at the center ring, alternating occasionally with DeMoisey. The "free-wheeling" artist has been clicking exceptionally well so far, his beautiful twist shots are hitting the basket with increasing regularity and his defense play is greatly superior to that of last year.

The great surprise of the opening two weeks has been Bill "Race-horse" Davis; the former Hazard forward has been doing very well at guard, playing at the post left vacant by the failure of Charles Worthington to return to school. Davis is a small boy and that alone can keep him from making one of the south's best guards. He plays a fast game and shoots from any, and all positions, with the accuracy of a rifleman. If Davis shows that he can stand up under the bruising play that he will have to encounter from Kentucky's opponents, then Rupp's worries will be ended, but as a small man he will always be handicapped when he has to guard great towering forwards like some who will perform against the 'Cats this season. If Davis draws the guard position opposite Ellis Johnson, Kentucky will have a quintet of dangerous scoring men in the starting lineup. All the other men are proven threats.

At the forward positions Dave Lawrence and Tucker, both look good. Lawrence is a potential scoring power at all times, his crisp shots enter the net from almost unbelievable angles. The work of Tucker has been very good, he has shown that he is an exceptionally fine player when ever a zone defense is used. These two men will play a lot of basketball this season, but it is unlikely that either will displace Darrell Darby or "Frenchy" De-

Moisey, regular forwards of last season.

Jackson, a former forward, has been shifted to the guard position where he is doing very well. This addition to the other guards will give Rupp reserve power at that position and round out the squad in such a way as to make it equally strong at all positions.

Yesterday 'Cat followers were cheered at the news of the return of big George Yates. Yates was captain-elect of last year's team, and All-Southern center in 1930. A football injury and an operation kept the tall lad on the sidelines all last season. The return of Yates means the addition of a powerful defensive and a strong offensive player to the already powerful squad. Yates is hardly expected to displace his former understudy, Captain "Aggie" Sale, at center, but very likely the big lad will play lots of basketball for the Blue. Yates will be worked at the guard position for a time and if he makes good he may become a regular at that post. Blair, last year's reserve forward, also returned to the squad yesterday; both Blair and Yates have undergone recent tonsil operations and this has kept them from reporting earlier.

Saturday Coach Rupp announced that negotiations were under way for a game with the powerful Wichita Henrys, this team has been National A. A. U. champions for the past three years. The Henrys are considered the greatest independent team ever to be assembled and a game with the 'Cats will go a long way towards settlement of the national argument as to the respective merits of college and high class A. A. U. basketball.

The game with the Henrys will be played in Lexington if the final arrangements are made. This should be one of the bright lights in a schedule that already boasts opponents from five conferences and one foreign country.

Wednesday evening coaches Rupp, Miller and Campbell will begin freshman basketball. The ranks of the freshman class are filled with men who are known to be high class basketball performers and all signs would indicate another great freshman quintet. All men interested in playing should report the first week, as squad cuts will be necessary in order to reduce the number reporting to workable size.

KITTENS UPSET BY VANDY FROSH

Failing to show the power that they have been noted for all season, Coach Pribble's big yearling squad met with their first setback when they were beaten by the powerful Vanderbilt frosh by the score of 13 to 0, in Nashville, Saturday. The Kentucky frosh entered the game as big favorites because of their victories over Tennessee and Sewanee freshmen. The Vandy frosh proved their superiority and earned a well deserved battle when they allowed the Kentucky frosh to make only one great threat which came late in the third period when the Kentucky yearlings drove 41 yards only to be held for downs by inches from the goal line.

Duke Victimizes Wildcats, 13 to 0

Durham fans one of the greatest exhibitions of offensive skill that they have observed all season. Each time that the 'Cats had the ball in scoring distance with first down and goal to go, it was obvious that they lacked the old touchdown punch.

Another Kentucky drive reached to the nine-yard line in the fourth quarter, but was six inches short of a first down, as Johnson drilled into a hole and the defenders rushed him back, but the Kentucky supporters still believe that the ball was over. Two great punts by Rossiter, star Duke end, put the 'Cats in the hole midway of the last period. His first kick went 66 yards and was downed by a Duke end. Johnson's return punt went 34 yards; Rossiter punted back 34 yards; Johnson's second punt went only 30 yards. Duke took the ball on the Big Blue's 34-yard stripe.

Laney went through right tackle for 17 yards, which was the longest gain made by Duke from scrimmage all afternoon. Laney, Cornelius and Mason made a first down on the Wildcats' five yard line. Laney tried Rupert's end, could not gain, faked a line stab, and swept around the end for the second score while his line boxed Rupert in. Cornelius made his try for point goal.

As the game neared a finish, the 'Cats still had hopes and two first downs put the ball on the North Carolina's 20-yard line; then Johnson tried a long pass to Malcolm Foster, and it was just inches too high for the fast 'Cat back to reach and it fell over the goal line. Just as the ball was put into play on the 20 yard line, the game ended and the Blue Devils had defeated the Wildcats by a larger score than any other team has been able to inflict upon them since Wallace Wade's 1930 National champion Alabama Tide humbled the Gammegemen on Still field, 19-0.

If the 'Cats had won, the victory would have been very costly, as they suffered injuries to two of the leading players, a charity horse to Ellis Johnson's leg, and John Drury received a twisted knee. Johnson may be able to return to the team for the Tulane game, but it is very unlikely that John Drury will be able to play by Saturday.

The 'Cats, with a crippled team, aroused the enthusiasm of the fans by their spectacular playing. They beat the Devils at their own passing game and showed them some entirely new tricks. Kentucky gained 155 yards on passes and 104 in ground plays while the Wade machine could gain but 80 yards from scrimmage and 60 by means of passes. All the first downs Kentucky made went for naught because Duke won. This year's win was the twelfth in a row over Kentucky teams for the veteran mentor, Wallace Wade. Two were scored while at Vanderbilt, eight while helmsman of the Crimson Tide, and two since going to Duke.

Ellis Johnson played one of the greatest games of his career, perhaps greater than his game against the Tide last week. His passes were accurate and true, his line plunges were like the power of a pneumatic drill, and his runs were things of beauty. Darby played like a fiend, but the team lacked that something which is necessary for a score. In the forewall, Captain "Bud" Davidson and "Boss" Seale stalled off all the Duke advances, so it was not through the center of the line that the Devils made their scores. "Smokey" Joe Rupert, the 'Cats bid for All-Southern and All-American honors at end, aided by "Dutch" Kreuter, played a fine game. Both Kentuckians were down under punts and stopped all advances around the flanks.

Rossiter, Mason, Adkins and Laney were the mainsprings for the Devils and Rossiter's punting was one reason for the downfall of the Gammegemen.

Summer Session Students Vote In Questionnaire

Questions Relative To Social and Extra-Curricular Activities Preponded

During the first term of the summer session of 1932, a questionnaire was submitted to the students to determine their viewpoints regarding certain features of the summer schools and to discover any suggestions they might have for improvements. A part of this questionnaire was intended to find out their attitudes toward social or extra-curricular activities carried on in connection with the school work.

According to results of this section of the questionnaire tabulated by Dr. Jesse E. Adams, director of the summer session, the all-university picnic, given for the first time this summer, won such universal favor with the students that 624 of them voted that it be made an annual feature of the session, while only 88 voted against the proposal.

The arrangement of five days of entertainment grouped together, as in the case of the chautauqua, as opposed to a reasonable amount of entertainments appearing at various intervals during the term, proved to be unpopular with 626 students. One hundred thirty-four were in favor of continuing the chautauqua plan.

The students were also sounded on the question of the continuance of the Vesper program, and 639 were found to believe that they should be a feature of next summer's program; those opposed numbered 65.

Questioned as to the popularity of evening lectures given by specialists in their respective fields, 702 favored the suggestion and 46 disliked it. Of those who preferred that some of the lectures be of the entertainment type 625 voted yes, 76 no.

Six hundred students were of the opinion that one convocation in a period of every two weeks through the term was the correct proportion, while 159 believed it to be too few and 22 declared it to be too many.

WAITING FOR A STREET CAR, NO DOUBT

Wellesley, Mass. — Patrolman William Mullen, who guides the destinies of traffic entering Wellesley square from five streets, had a pain in the neck from trying to watch all roads, so he developed the brilliant idea of hanging a mirror above his traffic box to watch traffic behind him.

When students of Wellesley College returned for classes, however, they had other ideas, and used the mirror to powder their noses. A sergeant saw Mullen at his post of duty surrounded by girls busy primping. "What's the big idea, are you running a harem?" demanded the sergeant.

Today Patrolman Mullen was busy directing traffic, twisting his head to watch five roads.

THE FALL OF TICONDEROGA

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by F. C. Yohn—inspired by that horror-filled dawn when Ethan Allan's gallant "Green Mountain Boys" of Fort Ticonderoga fame. "Nature in the Raw" is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.
